

Bite Size: Five New Things in Perth You Need to Know This Week – October 13, 2021

A wine party with over 200 drops to try, beachside markets with food trucks and outdoor yoga, and Thai street food and Pina Coladas at State Buildings.

Published on 13 October 2021

by CLARE RYAN

Paint the town Yello

Yello Festival is on again at State Buildings until October 17. The sensory, spring-inspired festival brings together music, art and the many flavours of State Buildings' restaurants and bars. Expect a seafood dinner at Bar 1875; an afternoon at Wildflower with acclaimed soprano Sara Macliver; an Italian four-course feast at Post; and a "Koh Samui Beach Party" with Thai street food and Pina Coladas in the Long Chim courtyard. Book here

Make your own gin

Coastal restaurant Odyssea is teaming up with Freo bar and distillery Republic of Fremantle for a gin-blending masterclass on October 16 and 23. Guests will learn about botanical blending from the experts and create a personalised 500ml bottle of gin to take home, all while sipping on Odyssea's signature cocktails, such as the kaffir-lime blue Gin and Tonic. Tickets are $165 per person and include post-class eats. Book here.

Beachside markets

Clarko Reserve in Trigg will be transformed into Summer X Salt Markets on Saturday October 23. The beachside park will host 12 sets of markets until March 19, 2022, with a Christmas edition on December 11. The family-friendly market, which won WA's Best Small Event 2020 at the Australian Event Awards, brings together more than 200 community- and sustainably minded businesses – expect local designers, food trucks and live music, plus outdoor yoga, pilates and meditation classes. Entry is free and the markets are open from 9am until 1pm. More info here.

Wine time

Unwind Subiaco is bringing over 200 wines from more than 30 WA wineries to Subiaco's Market Square Park on October 23 and October 24. There'll be live music, wine, beer and gin tastings, plus snacks by Gnocchi Boys and Great Southern Truffles, and baos and dumplings from Mild Bite Food Truck. Expect wines from Evans & Tate, Clown Fish, Cherubino, Bellarmine Wines in Pemberton and more. Tickets available here.

Vasse Felix at Kitsch

Margaret River winery Vasse Felix is heading to Oxford Street for an evening at Kitsch on Thursday October 14. The four-course long-table dinner will feature a selection of Asian-inspired spicy and sweet dishes by chef Misato Hirai – paired with Vasse Felix's new-release wines. The winery team will be on hand throughout the night to talk through each drop. Tickets are $120 per person and available here.